

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington Predictions for Today and Tomorrow.

For eastern New York, New Jersey and southern New England, fair, with moderate temperature to-day and to-morrow; light variable winds.

For northern New England, fair to-day and to-morrow; light variable winds. For western New York, fair to-day and probably to-morrow; light variable winds.

It was being followed by the west of low pressure forming in the Northwest and Southwestern U. S. scattered showers in the central Rocky Mountain States, Montana and the Dakotas, and some heavy rain in Kansas, northern Texas and Arkansas.

These depressions are attended by warmer weather in the States immediately east of the Rocky Mountains.

Another area of high pressure is moving in on the north Pacific coast with somewhat cooler weather.

In this city the day was fair, little temperature change in the morning; warmer in the afternoon; wind fresh to brisk north-west; average humidity 51 per cent; barometer corrected to read at sea level, at 8 A. M., 30.29; 3 P. M., 30.31.

The temperature in this city yesterday, as recorded by the official thermometer, is shown in the annexed table.
